The role of the guardianship organisation, your guardian, and the role of the homestay

The guardianship organisation

We aim to achieve to offer the highest level of service possible, depending on the package booked and put students' safety and wellbeing first. We would love to be kind and always understand to students. We are available 24/7 in case of emergencies. We will ensure all staff members act in a professional and considerate manner while making sure all host families are welcoming and treating students like members of the family. We will arrange your transport to and from the Airport to your School or Host Family and will undertake a rigorous employment procedure for staff and host families, including DBS checks. We will ensure all staff members and host families are fully supported and certified by taking specific training, including safeguarding training as well as our team in China will provide proactive and responsive service for your needs in advance.

The homestay

Our Host Families are dedicated reliable parents who will look after your child when they stay over for half terms or school holidays. Your child's host family will prepare him/her with a warm, clean and safe environment where he/she will be able to relax, study and take activities accompanied. They will ensure your child will be well looked after during the stay and be very supportive he/she may needs in many ways.

The school

Having developed high quality education and boarding, today's school welcomes students from around the world into British academic courses. Whether you join the school to study IGCSEs or A levels, you will become part of school family. School's academic courses lead to a high standard and high qualifications.

Many primary and secondary schools in the UK are in beautiful small towns where students can study in peace. British classrooms strictly adhere to the teaching concept of small class, so that teachers can get familiar with each student's personality, ability and characteristics, teach students according to their aptitude, and closely care for the growth of students in life, which is also very suitable for young students studying abroad. British institutions are, in many places, very fastidious in their preservation of ancient traditions. These are helpful to the development of behavior habits and temperament cultivation of young children studying abroad and have a very important impact on the children's life.

Safeguarding

We have a trained Designated Safeguarding Lead. You or your child can raise a safeguarding concern with your contact at the guardianship organisation or directly to the Designated Safeguarding Lead (contact numbers are included in the table below). Alternatively, you may wish to raise a concern directly with the school your child attends. All schools have their own Designated Safeguarding Lead. Please note that any concern that you or your child raise with us will be taken seriously and will be handled in line with our published procedures.

Life in the UK

Living in the UK may be quite different to the life your child is used to. Every country has its own customs and it may take them a while to get used to these. Please do not worry, this is most normal. Here are a few examples of British customs to help you understand what is expected:

Meeting people: Sometimes British people come across as being reserved but usually they are kind, helpful and welcoming of visitors. British people usually greet each other with a handshake and use their title and surname, until being invited to use their first names. For example, when meeting a new contact, they may greet saying "Good morning Mr Harris". Due to the coronavirus, greetings have changed, and handshakes are not currently being used. A verbal greeting is perfectly acceptable, whilst maintaining social distancing.

Queues: The British people love queues! When waiting

Due to the coronavirus, spaces between people waiting in the queue are currently larger, so please ensure that your child is aware of the need to maintain a suitable distance. In the UK this is currently 1 metre or more. Shops in the UK are currently limiting the number of people allowed inside at any one time, so your child may need to queue more often than in usual times. Some shops and services have clear instructions and markers to show where shoppers should stand.

Please explain to your child that they should respect the instructions given.

Please and thank you: British people greatly appreciate politeness. This means when you would like something you would start a sentence with the word “Please”, for example, “Please may I have a sandwich?” When you have received something, you should always reply with “Thank you”.

Sorry! The British people are often heard to say “Sorry!” This word is used if people accidentally bump into each other or make a mistake. Often people say it even if they were not to blame (for example, a person bumped into them whilst walking in the street).

Mealtimes: It is considered polite to wait for all people at the table to have their meals in front of them before you start to eat. Knives and forks are used to eat the vast majority of main courses, although some British families may use other cutlery to suit the cuisine. Knives and forks are placed together to indicate that the diner has finished. It is not considered polite to eat with your mouth open or speak whilst eating. Similar to the beginning of the meal, diners usually wait until everyone is finished before leaving the table, and often time is spent having a chat around the table.

What to expect from the homestay

Educate Study Limited expects all their students to be polite and courteous when staying with a homestay. A homestay is not a hotel and the expectation is that your child will be included as part of the family. As such, they will be expected to engage with family members, joining them at mealtimes, and possibly helping with chores such as laying the table. Your child's homestay will explain their own house rules to them when they arrive. Please do ask them if you have any questions.

Responsibilities during a pandemic

Pandemics can cause major disruption to travel and schooling. It is important in such events that Educate Study Limited takes advice from the government, UK Health Security Agency and the World Health Organisation. AEGIS also provides guidance for members to follow. This is regularly updated as a situation develops. Usually, in a pandemic it is important to restrict movement so as not to spread the disease further. That means boarding school students would usually remain at school. In the event of a pandemic, Educate Study Limited may not be able to offer homestay accommodation for your child as this could place students, homestay families and the wider community at risk. Educate Study Limited will work with you to find flights to home countries where required. Educate Study Limited will work with schools to meet students' needs during a pandemic. This could be by helping to support students to learn remotely as directed by the school.
